

To: Toronto Public Library Board – June 10, 2002

From: City Librarian

Subject: Requests for Reconsideration of Library Materials – 2001 Annual Report

Purpose:

To provide an overview of the Library materials process for dealing with requests for the reconsideration of Library materials and to provide a summary of those requests received in 2001.

Funding Implications and Impact Statement:

Not applicable.

Recommendations:

It is recommended that the Toronto Public Library Board receive for information the Requests for Reconsideration of Library Materials – 2001 Annual Report.

Background

Occasionally, members of the public complain about books and other material in the Library's collection. These customer complaints are dealt with in the context of the Materials Selection Policy and the principles of intellectual freedom, both of which were approved by the Board at its meeting on June 26, 2000. The relevant section of the policy is re-stated here:

The Library believes that a vital society encourages members of its community to actively participate in an open exchange of ideas and opinions. Material selectors consequently strive to provide the widest possible range of resources within Toronto Public Library collections.

The content or manner of expressing ideas in material that is purposely selected to fill the needs of some Library users, may, on occasion, be considered to be offensive by other Library users. The Library recognizes the right of any individual or group to reject Library material for personal use, but does not accord to any individual or group the right to restrict the freedom of others to make use of that same material.

Library users who object to materials located in a library collection are asked to complete a written request for the reconsideration of the materials. Request forms are available for this purpose at local library branches.

Comments:

The procedures are intended to ensure that the concerns of the customer are dealt with in a timely manner and with sensitivity. Every attempt is made to resolve the challenge or complaint at the local level. Customers wishing to pursue a complaint beyond the branch level, fill out a form detailing their concerns and, if the complaint is not satisfied locally, this form is sent to the Collection Development Manager, who forwards it to the Materials Review Committee. A letter of acknowledgement is sent to the customer explaining the process.

The Materials Review Committee is a standing committee with a rotating membership made up of experienced public service librarians. They share a mixture of expertise on adult, teen and children's materials, but may call in other experts; for example, subject or language specialists, as needed. The Committee researches the disputed title by considering reviews, the author's reputation, coverage of the subject in the collection, its popularity, historical importance, etc., all within the context of the Materials Selection Policy. A recommendation on its disposition is made and communicated to the customer in writing.

Challenges to titles in the collection received by the Materials Review Committee in 2001 and the actions taken are listed in Attachment 1. Most complaints focus on sexual, violent or racist content as well as content which is perceived to be politically biased. Customers do not necessarily want a title removed from the collection, but may request that a warning label be applied or that it be reclassified or moved to another part of the collection.

In summary, nine complaints were received by the Materials Review Committee, broken down as follows:

- two videos, one English-as-a-Second-Language kit, one periodical and five books;
- all English language;
- seven adult titles, one teen and one children's.

All items were retained in the collection. One was transferred from the children's to the teen collection.
