SPSC Strategic Plan 2020-2024: Preliminary Environmental Scan and Consultation
19-007 Plan

The Steering Committee members reviewed the proposed process for the environmental scan and consultation plan and provided the input and feedback outlined below. Library staff will incorporate this feedback into the process.

Demographics

- Demographics analysis should examine current and future population projections
- There should be a focus on both users and non-users. Specifically, who is not using the library and why?
- Consider using different socio-cultural analytical lenses e.g. psychometrics and ethno-cultural to have an in-depth understanding of customer needs, for example, millennials
- Consultation process should be inclusive - giving all Torontonians an opportunity to participate through in-person and online tactics
- For the broad public survey, consider translation and other strategies to remove barriers to participation

Technology

- Technology is fundamental to library service and it should be a continued focus
- Library's role as trusted steward and custodian of public data should be explored
- The potential of artificial intelligence to provide better library service should be considered

Ecosystem

- Create a systems map situating TPL in the not-for-profit and public sector to further explore the environment in which the library is operating

External Trends

- Relevant industry forecasts where disruption will occur and impact library service should be factored in, e.g. the evolution of media and information

Library Sector

- Include best practices in the library sector from peer libraries
