The Director, Finance and Treasurer has reviewed the financial impact statement and is in agreement with it.

BACKGROUND

Toronto Public Library's Naming Policy establishes the protocol and preferred names for Toronto Public Library branches, rooms, programs and collections. Toronto Public Library established the practice of naming its branches for their geographic locations when it opened its first branch, Northern, in 1884 in what was the Northern part of the city. Since then, branches in all areas of the city have, for the most part, been named for their geographic location.

The naming of branches after the geographic location provides a sense of place and identity for the library. It provides an indication of the location and facilitates finding the branch.

COMMENT

The new branch in the Railway Lands area will be located at the north east corner of Fort York Blvd. and Bathurst Street. In accordance with the Naming Policy, Fort York Boulevard Branch is the recommended name as it indicates the geographic location and community where the branch will be situated. The local councillor has been consulted and is in agreement with this name.
